

MY EXPERIENCE OF TEACHING

Alhamdulillah thumma Alhamdulillah, I can not emphasize how grateful I am to Allah SWT and my Asaatiza e kiraam for granting me this opportunity of teaching and believing in me. This has been my first year of teaching and this experience was totally blissful. As being an online teacher, you learn a lot of new things with regards to teaching. Teaching is not only a profession but rather it's a passion, it's the willingness and the excitement of coming to class every single day just for your students. And being an online teacher its even more as you can not see your students in front of you but you know they are there. You can feel how enthusiastic they are to learn every single day even though it's from behind a screen. From my teaching as a whole I learnt that not every student is the same, all of them are different and unique in their own ways. Each student has their own unique quality and strength.

From the subjects I was given to teach this year one of them was Tafseer ul Quran for 2nd years. My words will not do justice if I have to describe as to how much I've always loved Tafseer as a passion, what more can I say about learning and teaching about the words and the kalaam of My Rabb. Tafseer has always been the subject that I thoroughly enjoyed studying during my student days and my excitement and happiness was doubled when my Beloved Asaatiza e kiraam thought of me worthy enough to teach it as well. There's nothing in the world that can compare the sweetness of learning the words of Your Rabb. There's actually more that you learn while teaching compared to what you learn when learning. Teaching Tafseer made me realize that truly there's no better feeling in the world than making the Quran Shareef your companion, at every aspect of your life whatever you feel whether it is sad or happy or hurt or whatever emotion it is, always pick up the Quran Shareef and recite it. The contentment you will feel in your heart is unexplainable. I am truly grateful to have gone through this journey of teaching this beautiful subject.

Another subject I was given to teach was 3rd years maqamaat. Maqamat was a subject I feared the most during my student days and when I wrote its final exam I was extremely happy. When I got to know I got maqamaat to teach I was taken by shock and it was something completely unexpected. At that moment I told myself that no matter what I will make the most of this opportunity and learn what I missed out on during my learning year. Alhamdulillah the journey of teaching it was something completely different as I realized how deep its meanings are and how completely different it is compared to other subjects.

I can not thank Allah SWT for accepting me and my Asaatiza e kiraam enough for giving me such opportunities and thinking of me worthy enough to teach these subjects

Jazakumullahu khayr.
